MIGRATE

the challenge

Pega's traditional section-based UI system requires you to build your UX from scratch. This can lead to more development work, harder upgrades, slower performance and inconsistent UX experiences.

the solution

ai4process can help you fully exploit Pega's new Constellation design system, allowing your team to focus on configuring industry-proven UX design patterns and out-of-the-box pre-built components, rather than the traditional programmatic 'build from the ground up' approach.

the benefits

- Quicker time to value
- Significant upgrade improvements
- Increased end-user productivity
- Accessibility improvements built in
- Consistency increases learnability with less training
- Flexibility to use alternate design system
